Return Reference	Explanation
Schedule C, Part II-B, Line 1	The University's Office of Government Relations and the President are the primary liaisons to Local, State and Federal government through their regular communication regarding the University's mission, goals and programs. The office of Government Relations also apprises the University's officials about pertinent government activities to ensure the University is sufficiently informed. The primary focus of the University's effort is directed toward helping government representatives learn more about St. John's University. The University's participation in the legislative process is primarily through its memberships in the Commission on Independent Colleges and Universities (CICU) and the National Association of Independent Colleges and Universities (NAICU). The University does not have any other lobbying activities other than those listed on lines 1a, 1b, 1d, 1g and 1i.

Schedule E, Part I, Line 3	The University publicizes its racially nondiscriminatory policy to the community it serves in various ways, including by posting the policy To its website, publishing the policy in its Undergraduate and Graduate Bulletins, and printing the policy on its applications for employment
Schedule E, Part I, Line 6	The University consistently strives to place an outstanding higher education within the financial reach of all qualified applicants. The University awards millions of dollars in federal and state financial aid funds each year based upon a student's financial need. Additionally, the University provides financial aid via University grants-in-aid AND scholarships. Grants-in-Aid are awarded on the basis of demonstrated financial need assessed by the use of a standard financial aid application, currently the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA), which analyzes the family income data provided on the FAFSA through the mandated Federal Methodology. All need-based financial aid must be awarded according to a student's calculated financial need. Scholarship awards are primarily provided on scholastic achievement. University scholarships are highly competitive and available to students through a combination of academic achievement and personal commitment, display of values, compassion, and pursuit of excellence which embody the spirit and mission of the University. The University has many scholarships funded through special endowments and donations. In most instances, academic merit and financial need are considered along with the particular requirements of the scholarship selection process. Also, various associations, corporations, foundations and unions provide scholarships for recipients whom they select.

Return Reference	Explanation
Schedule I, Part I, Line 2	The University consistently strives to place an outstanding higher education within the financial reach of all qualified applicants. The University awards millions of dollars in federal and state financial aid funds each year based upon a student's financial need. Additionally, the University provides financial aid via University grants-in-aid and scholarships. Grants-in-Aid are awarded on the basis of demonstrated financial need assessed by the use of a standard financial aid application, currently the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA), which analyzes the family income data provided on the FAFSA through the mandated Federal Methodology. All need-based financial aid must be awarded according to a student's calculated financial need. Scholarship awards are primarily provided on scholastic achievement. University scholarships are highly competitive and available to students through a combination of academic achievement and personal commitment, display of values, compassion, and pursuit of excellence which embody the spirit and mission of the University. The University has many scholarships funded through special endowments and donations. In most instances, academic merit and financial need are considered along with the particular requirements of the scholarship selection process. Also, various associations, corporations, foundations and unions provide scholarships for recipients whom they select.

Schedule J, Part I, Line 1a	Charter Travel As needed, the University's Athletic teams travel via chartered aircraft. Charter travel is needed to transport the teams in the most time effective and cost efficient manner. Coaches listed in Form 990, Part VII, travel with the team on these occasions. None of the benefit is taxable compensation. Travel for Companions If approved by the chair of the Board of the Trustees, the University covers the cost of travel for the President's spouse when she accompanies him on University travel in connection with University Business. None of the benefit is taxable compensation. President's Housing The president is provided housing near campus for the convenience of the University as a condition of employment so that he can fully engage in campus life, entertain students, donors and faculty, for proximity to the campus for many evening events, and to be nearby in the event of emergencies. Additionally, the president uses the employer-provided house for significant business use, such as entertaining donors, University meetings and other business activities. None of the benefit is taxable compensation, and an estimate of annual value is reported in Schedule J, Part II, column (D). Tax Indemnification and Gross-up Payments Other reportable compensation for the President includes a supplemental payment for his retirement plan and the related tax gross-up pursuant to his employment agreement.
