Explanation: First, the organization believed the deadline was extended to June 15th and so we completed the return and had it review by the Board and was ready to mail it on June 15th. The organization did not learn about the new requirement for electronic filing until June 15th when it prepared to mail the written return and saw that it must be e-filed late in the evening of June 15th. We did not have time to submit the form electronically that day. We did submit form 8868 to request an automatic extension of time for filing, using the electronic filing vendor Express Tax Exempt. This was submitted at 8:44 pm local time, 10:44 pm Eastern time. On the 16th we received notice from Express Tax Exempt that our 8868 had been rejected by the IRS for the reason that it was not submitted on or before the deadline of the return. We had relied upon information on the internet that indicated the IRS deadline for nonprofits impacted by Covid 19 to file their 990 was extended to June 15th and the representation of the e-filing company that we could still submit the Form 8868 through their portal prior to the deadline of midnight Eastern time on June 15th.
