International: GAIA uses a movement-building network model that empowers members to build their own capacity, facilitates international solidarity in response to local organizing efforts, and coordinates collective research and campaigns around the issues of waste, pollution, climate and environmental justice. We continue to coordinate various international and regional listservs, reaching a substantial number of our network of nearly 1,100 member organizations across 90 countries, and we have been advancing our member outreach through new platforms that will enhance the sharing of member experiences and the coordination of cross-regional efforts. We deployed $360,000 in grants to members in Africa and Latin America. We also helped to link our members to expert resources for public events and environmental impact reviews. GAIA supported members around the world in efforts to protect the environment, public health, and human rights by blocking the construction of incinerators in their communities and shifting political and financial drivers away from dirty energy. For example, in Sa~o Paulo, Brazil, a GAIA members persistent efforts have led to the passing of a bill that bans landfilling and incineration of organic waste in the city to be accomplished in the next 15 years. Our sister organization Zero Waste Europes persistent advocacy efforts pushed members of the European Parliament (EP) to approve the inclusion of municipal incinerators in the scope of the EU Emissions Trading Scheme (ETS) as of 2026, putting a CO2 price on every tonne of fossil CO2 emitted by incinerators. GAIA rallied against the decision to include so-called waste to energy (WTE) incineration in the latest version of the Asian Development Bank's (ADB) Energy Policy, pushing instead for divestment from WTE.

(Code:) (Expenses $ 1,177,908 including grants of $ 586,000) (Revenue $ 25,000)

U.S./Canada: GAIA provided technical and strategic support, resources, and information to members and allies in the U.S. and Canada and amplified their efforts via social media, as they worked to address pressing waste issues in their communities. GAIAs project From Dumping Grounds to Healthy Communities provided focused, ongoing support to local organizations in Baltimore, MD; Detroit, MI; Long Beach and Commerce, CA; Minneapolis, MN; Newark, NJ; and Oregon in efforts to shut down polluting incinerators and advance healthier alternatives, adding new cohort members in Minnesota and New Jersey. We coordinated members with otherin-state and national partners on issues related to air pollution, cumulative impacts, and incinerator subsidies. We have also worked with members to address new policy threats related to plastics and so-called chemical recycling. Our non-lobbying, administrative advocacy with the EPA secured significant regulatory successes with regard to recycling infrastructure fundingno incineration or chemical recycling projects will be funded with this money. We began work with members and partners on key strategies to reduce the methane from the waste sector. We also collaborated with the National Caucus of Environmental Legislators on a state roadmap on zero waste.

(Code:) (Expenses $ 1,055,300 including grants of $ 176,500) (Revenue $)

Global Projects: Plastics & Climate: We organized a global campaign (#QuitSachets) in June 2022 demanding that fast-moving consumer goods companies stop using sachet packaging, and supported members in the Asia/Pacific region to step up advocacy on sachet packaging. An investigative report by Reuters drew on GAIA members in the region to expose tactics to derail and hijack sachets regulations in India, Indonesia, Philippines, and Sri Lanka. GAIA organized the first global Zero Waste Cities Summit online, drawing hundreds of participants, and spoke at the United Nations to mark the UNs first Global Zero Waste Day. In our members zero waste work in the past year, youth played a significant role in building a stronger and more inclusive movement, organizing capacity-building workshops, campaigns, and events such as International Zero Waste Month, Zero Waste Academy, etc. To date, over 550 municipalities around the world are already implementing zero waste such as Bandung, Bali, Dumaguete, Hoi An, Accra, and Siquijor. These models integrated hundreds of waste workers and waste pickers in zero waste systems, instituted segregated waste collection and waste assessment and brand audits, and regulated single-use plastic, resulting in improved solid waste management, waste reduction, and zero waste jobs generation. GAIA has been active in global policy efforts addressing climate and plastics. We participated in global policy spaces like UNEA, COP, and IPCC working groups. We released Zero Waste to Zero Warming, a landmark global report detailing comprehensive evidence on how better waste management is critical to any climate plan, putting the spotlight on zero waste strategies in eight different cities including Seoul, Temuco, Lviv, and Detroit. The inclusion of waste workers in the first International Negotiations Committee (INC-1) to discuss the Global Plastics Treaty was a huge step in the right direction, demonstrating recognition of the rights, skills, and importance of the informal waste sector. Building on this move, GAIA has been working on expanding the Group of Friends of Waste Pickers to allow waste workers from Asian states to participate in the negotiation process. With the spotlight on the global plastics treaty, GAIA also continued to sustain momentum by supporting members across the globe working toward this.

Grantmaker's Description of How Grants are Used	The Board of Directors, with guidance from programmatic staff, will approve proposed grants based on annual budget. GAIA will establish an appropriate grant agreement with the member or organization based on program activities and nature of work. Grantees will submit nonprofit equivalency documents and may be required to submit interim mid-year reports as well as final reports to ensure that the funds were expended for the purposes approved by the Board. In addition, the US program coordinator monitors the grantees closely throughout the year. This is accomplished through regular email communication, conference calls and site visits.

Form 990, Part III, Line 4d	OTHER PROGRAM SERVICES 4: Communications: One of the highlights of this fiscal year's communications was the release of the landmark Zero Waste to Zero Emissions report, which provided the clearest and most comprehensive evidence to date of how better waste management is critical to the climate fight, while building resilience, creating jobs, and promoting thriving local economies. The communications team provided an advocacy toolkit to members, a landing page, video, and two virtual launch events. The report release was an unqualified success, with high media visibility due to pick-up in key national and international media syndicates like CBS and AFP as well as regional news sites across the worldfor an estimated reach of over 102 million people and public endorsements from numerous policymakers, academics, and movement leaders, including the Co-Chair of the International Resource Panel of the UN Environment Programme and former European Commissioner for the Environment. GAIA also flexed its communications muscle at two major international negotiations the Plastics Treaty INC-1 and COP27, driving a spotlight on our key demands and elevating the voices of our grassroots members, particularly from the Global South. We also had our first global communications team retreat, gathering all of our regional and global team members at the International Zero Waste Cities Conference, to encourage cross-regional collaboration and global strategic planning. The fiscal year culminated with a GAIA intervention at the UN's inaugural Zero Waste Day on March 30, where GAIA launched a public declaration and global social media campaign, and was able to secure a speaking slot in the UN's official program. OTHER PROGRAM SERVICES 5: Break Free From Plastic - Global: BFFP, a fiscally-sponsored project of GAIA, is a global movement envisioning a future free from plastic pollution. Launched in September 2016, the movement now comprises more than 2,500 organizations across the world and thousands of individual supporters demanding massive reductions in single-use plastics and pushing for lasting solutions to the plastic pollution crisis. BFFP Asia/Pacific members supported campaigns calling on governments in the UK, Australia, and Europe to stop exporting plastic waste to Asia. The Malaysia Stop Waste Trade Coalition joined BFFP Europes advocacy with the Environment Committee of the European Parliament to set a ban on EU plastic waste exports to OECD and non-OECD countries. "Project: Can Opener" saw members in Thailand, Malaysia, Vietnam, Indonesia, and India use evidence of illegal plastic waste in shipping containers to call on their governments to investigate and enforce the Basel Amendments. Due to efforts by BFFP members, French shipping line CMA CGM stopped exporting plastic waste shipments from June 2022. EARTH Thailands advocacy resulted in Thailand announcing a plan to prohibit plastic scrap imports by 2025. African members developed a sign-on letter with demands from over 130 civil society organizations calling on governments to stop waste colonialism in Africa. The letter was read during a side event at Basel COP in June 2022. We also supported convenings of groups in Nigeria, Uganda, and North Africa. OTHER PROGRAM SERVICES 6: Break Free From Plastic U.S: GAIA continued as fiscal sponsor of the Break Free From Plastic movement of nearly 200 member organizations in the U.S. and Canada working across the plastics value chain for systemic change. This work includes challenging the petrochemical buildout, pushing for corporate accountability, promoting systemic solutions, and building zero waste communities. We have worked to shift the narrative about plastic, change policies, and build a strong, intersectional, and resilient movement, ensuring connections between zero waste strategy and implementation and work addressing plastic pollution. We have also been coordinating a US environmental justice delegation for the Plastic Treaty INCs. OTHER PROGRAM SERVICES 7: The Urban Movement Innovation [UMI] Funds Convenings Program: GAIA served as host of UMIFs Convenings Program, which supports coordination of UMIF partner gatherings (including a 2023 meeting of global partners in Ghana), provided administrative backstopping to enhance the focus of gatherings, and evaluated meetings for impact. UMIF is a philanthropic initiative that aims to connect, align and strengthen people-power for a zero carbon future by catalyzing commitments in key cities around the world. This independent group supports projects that build power and connect the efforts of NGOs working on technical solutions and climate policywith those of grassroots groups and movements working to increase citizen engagement.
