As the region's go-to experts for more than three decades, WRA's on-the-ground work advances clean energy, protects air, land, water, and wildlife. WRA develops, advocates for, and implements science-based policies informed by diverse communities and stakeholders to create a healthier and more equitable future for all Western communities. WRA creates transformational change by driving action at the state level to effectively address complex conservation problems in the West.

Clean Energy - The vision of our clean energy work is that our homes, buildings and transportation systems will be powered by clean energy and the West is prospering in a zero-carbon economy. WRA uses public policy to align the financial interests of electricity producers and consumers with decarbonizing electricity production and electrifying other sectors of the economy. By working to retire coal, replace generation with clean energy and transportation, advance clean energy markets, and modernize the grid, WRA is transforming the region.

Water is conserved and key river reaches are revitalized and managed to support healthy river ecology, sustainable water use, and resilience to a changing climate. WRA develops, advocates for, and implements policies, programs and river management that saves water and protects rivers through improving stream flow, reducing water use, and improved water planning.

Return Reference	Explanation
Part I, Line 3	The executive committee (which serves as the compensation committee) establishes and maintains a competitive compensation program for the President of the organization, using comparable compensation data from other non-profit organizations to benchmark pay and other published survey data, when appropriate, from for-profit organizations for specific functional competencies such as law, finance, and human resources. Together with data from the comparable local and regional organizations, data from these market segments is used to form a "market composite" to assess the competitiveness of compensation. The Committee meets annually to review the compensation program and make recommendations for any changes to the board, as appropriate. The president is responsible for establishing and maintaining a competitive compensation program for all other key executives of the organization. Deliberations and conclusions of both the compensation committee and the Board of Directors are contemporaneously documented in the respective minutes.
