NAM's marketing arm organized marketing campaigns primarily in California but also in numerous cities outside the state of California with the intent to engage and inform ethnic media to encourage a broader as well as a deeper discourse of critical issues affecting ethnic, intergenerational, and other-diverse communities. The campaigns steered ad and advertorial dollars to hundreds of ethnic media organizations. The campaigns also helped ethnic media improve its issue coverage through developing their own earned media initiatives. Campaigns in 2012: ethnic elders, earthquake preparedness, cervical cancer awareness, childhood immunization, micro-loans for citizenship process expenses, youth tech summit, getting youth to participate in the parks system, environmental issues, impact of efforts to improve minority education in southern states, healthcare reform, home foreclosure relief, foreclosure scams, AZ toxic waste, summer energy use & more.

These programs continue to increase their traction successfully in serving their communities by their talented youth to provide media content for their local audience - all with the goal of contributing to the building of healthier communities. In addition, NAM continued to support the highly acclaimed The Beat Within (TBW) program which provides writing workshops in juvenile halls all throughout California and in an extensive network of sites all throughout the nation, including Hawaii. It's semimonthly publication of their youth participant contributions is highly sought after for its incredibly impactful and soul-wrenching writings and drawings. The California Council on Youth Relations program continues to coordinate highly successful and legislation-impacting briefings by young people to Sacramento representatives and researchers. Roaddawgz continues its noble work of providing a safe drop-in center for homeless youth looking to escape the harsh San Francisco by participating in the programs writing and drawing workshops. Silicon Valley De-Bug continues its highly visible role in covering social justice issues in San Jose.
