Description
the city, and the entire Central Kentucky region.
The LASC presents numerous and various programs at their own facility as well as in schools, social service agencies, libraries, community centers and in other public settings such as the Farmer's Market, Latino Festival, MayFest, and other city-wide events.
PROGRAMS PROVIDED:
CLASSES: Over 400 classes are provided each year at the LASC for students 18-months old up to adults. Classes are held including painting, drawing, sculpture, digital art, animation, illustration, fiber arts, environmental art, and much more. All classes are taught by professional artists and educators.
Free participatory art classes are provided to social service agencies serving adults and children, and often provide the only art experiences for their constituents. Each year, about 10 social service agencies are served through the LASC's community outreach programs.
EXHIBITS: The LASC presents 15-20 art exhibits each year in their Kinkead Gallery, Glo Gallery, Children's Art Gallery and Atrium Gallery. These exhibits focus primarily on Kentucky artists, though occasionally larger shows are held that include artists from a five state region. The exhibits are unique in that they also include opportunities for viewers to touch, feel, and create artwork in the same medium that is exhibited.
The LASC presents a Discovery Exhibit that focuses on the relationships between art and science and provides participatory field trip programs for visiting school groups and other youth organizations.
SCHOOL PROGRAMS: The LASC provides numerous in-school and after-school programs, primarily for schools that have high percentages of at-risk students. Some programs are multi-week, others may include one or two day visits to specific classes. One after-school program includes SCIENCE EXPLORERS which provides 12-weeks of creative, after-school science in five elementary schools. This program engages the students, their teachers, and at the end of each semester, the students' families, in participatory, hands-on exploration in science. Through funding from CHASE, this program is provided at no-charge to the schools or students.
LASC presented Urban Ecology for all fourth grade students in four elementary schools during the school day. The program focuses on the environment and the human relationship with the environment and in helping to make good choices about the earth. The LASC provides special after school art
