Our Forests Aren't Fuel (OFAF)
Just a few years ago in the EU, biomass was largely considered a viable renewable energy option that would satisfy emissions reduction and renewable energy targets with relatively few impacts. Given the success of the Our Forests Aren't Fuel (OFAF) campaign and the efforts of our partners, the climate, forest and biodiversity impacts connected to flawed EU policies have been made visible and are now a key part of the public and political debate. This awareness is impacting policies and subsidies in the EU and it's member states. Our efforts to engage citizens and raise issue awareness are also a key lever for continuing to exert pressure on any potential domestic expansion of this industry.

Wetland Forest Initiative (WFI)
Wetland forests span nearly 35 million acres across fourteen states and are critical for community health and safety. They have some of the highest rates of biodiversity and carbon sequestration of any forest type in the US. On World Wetlands Day 2017, Dogwood Alliance gathered over 20 partners to launch the Wetland Forest Initiative (WFI). A diverse array of organizations, tribes, agencies, and landowner associations joined together with a simple mission: to conserve, restore, and improve Southern wetland forests to strengthen our communities through science-based actions, diverse partnerships, and citizen and landowner engagement. Significant progress has been made in 2017 by the steering committee to develop a

Paper Campaign
During 2017, Dogwood Alliance has maintained and expanded our work to improve forest management and environmental responsibility with forest product industry giants that collectively source tens of millions of tons of wood from the Southeast. Our work to push for new ways of mapping and supply chain management is having concrete outcomes for Endangered and High Conservation Value forests across millions of acres across the region. In addition, these new supply-chain controls are serving as success models and are positively influencing peer companies in the paper industry and translating to other regions in the West and globally.

Continuation Statement

Description
During 2017, Dogwood campaign staff organized citizen protests in local communities to stop facilities, led a comprehensive media strategy, engaged with a range of EU and US policy makers, developed a spectrum of key tools and resources, and, provided ongoing direct evidence linking industry actors to the clear-cutting of mature hardwood wetland forests. Our Forests Aren't Fuel elevated the voices of concerned citizens directly impacted by the growth in wood pellet exports. This exposure garnered sustained, high-level media coverage domestically and in Europe.
The next few years still represents a critical window for action that can prevent the rapid expansion of an industry that has the potential to accelerate climate change and impact communities in the US and throughout the world. On both a global and local level, Dogwood is effectively mobilizing a diverse range of constituencies and organizing broad-based support to slow the growth trajectory of new biomass and wood pellet capacity. We are using this momentum to leverage stronger EU and Southern US state biomass policies and to begin to disrupt private investments in new capacity.

and catalyzing large-scale conservation, Dogwood advances a twenty-first century society that values standing forests for the many ways they sustain life.

Sch A Part II: Public Support Prior Year -----

During the 2017 Form 990 preparation, it was discovered that the public support test on the 2016 prior year Form 990, included a major donor's contribution in private support. This contributor was actually a publicly supported organization whose contribution should have been in public support. The 2017 Form 990 includes the restatement of the 2016 amounts, as well as the correct presentation for 2017. The effect of the correction was to significantly increase the public support percentages.

Schedule G: Gross Receipts-1 -----

The work of the consultants contributed to Dogwood's fundraising and grantmaking activities. However, it is not possible to determine the gross receipts that were directly attributable to the work of the consultants.
