Tutoring Programs: 826LA was founded on the belief that individualized attention to students leads to great academic improvement. Our after-school tutoring program was born from that belief. Weekday afternoons, volunteer tutors wait patiently until eager students charge our writing labs, heads full of questions about writing, math, and even those confounded piano chord progressions. After working with students one-on-one, tutors encourage their students to stretch their imaginations. They first dive into a good book, then work their budding creative skills by tackling a daily writing prompt or revising an already-drafted piece. These works are refined, then collected and published monthly in chapbooks from our in-house publishers, Dogtown Books and Echo Press. The process of writing and publishing with caring volunteer tutors turns even the most tedious of after-school sessions into an imagination factory, making our after-school program a challenging and rewarding atmosphere for future scholars and aspiring authors.

During 2009, 826LA provided over 7,150 one-on-one tutoring sessions.

Line 4b In-school projects: 826LA strives to make our centers and programs accessible to the community. 826LA recognizes, however, that teachers and students are not always able to make it to our writing labs. Accordingly, we send our volunteers to them! With a volunteer base that is eager to infiltrate Los Angeles schools, 826LA is prepared to provide the one-on-one writing support that students of all grade levels need in their classrooms. 826LA adopts a flexible approach to work with teachers on whatever writing their students are doing—persuasive and analytical essays, short stories, autobiographies, poems, plays for stage and screen, and those intimidating college-application essays—and we can also enable projects that teachers have dreamed of, but haven't had the support to execute.

During the 2009, 826LA provided 1,376 students with free one-on-one writing support in the classroom.

Line 4c

Field Trips: Weekdays throughout the school year, Los Angeles classrooms make their way to our writing labs to embark on 826LA's field trips, where we create compelling stories in a few short hours. 826LA can design a custom field trip to complement teacher curriculum, and we offer several standard field trips: screenwriting for high school, choose-your-own-adventure stories for middle school, and our most popular field trip: Storytelling & Bookmaking for elementary school. During the latter, students must bring forth their best writing to appease Mr. Barnacle, our never-seen, always-heard (and always-cranky) publisher. The students work with volunteers and each other to produce a story with all-new characters, setting, and plot, all the way up to a cliffhanger—at which point students must finish the story on their own, in order to sate Mr. Barnacle's need for originality. They always succeed, and they always leave with a bound, illustrated book to take home.

During the 2009, 443 826LA volunteers provided 1,439 students with one-on-one writing support during our field trips.

The local and national reputation of 826LA and the other "826" organizations located throughout the United States provide 826LA with a unique ability to increase access to educational services in low income areas. 826LA's small dedicated staff of employees leverages the 826 reputation to tailor dedicated programs designed to recruit, train and retain 826LA's extensive network of highly educated and skilled volunteers. This extensive network of active volunteers enables 826LA to provide benefits to the community that far exceed the level of services provided by other educational organizations with similar levels of resources.

As indicated below, a conservative pro-forma forecast developed for reference purposes only indicates that 826LA provides approximately $500,000 in additional education opportunities to low income students in underserved areas in Los Angeles. The ability to leverage its funding opportunities by utilizing its extensive volunteer network enables 826LA to make a significant contribution in the communities it serves.

Other Program Services

826LA is a nonprofit organization with locations in Venice and Echo Park. We are dedicated to supporting students ages 6 to 18 with their creative and expository writing skills and to helping teachers inspire their students to write. Our services are structured around the understanding that great leaps in learning can happen with one-on-one attention and that strong writing skills are fundamental to students' future success. With this in mind, we provide in-schools tutoring, assistance with student publications, after-school tutoring, after-school workshops, and help for English language learners. All our free programs are challenging and enjoyable and ultimately strengthen each student's power to express ideas effectively, creatively, confidently, and in his or her individual voice.

At 826LA, we believe that students should have access to nurturing learning environments regardless of socioeconomic status. By offering all our programming for free, we aim to break down any barriers that might prevent students from learning, and to serve families who might otherwise struggle to pay for the level of personalized instruction their children receive for free through 826LA. Our programming reaches students at every opportunity—in school, after school, in the evenings, and on weekends. We work to forge relationships with teachers in order to create innovative workshops and lesson plans, to produce professional-quality publications with young people, to inspire students to write and appreciate the written word, and to rally hundreds of enthusiastic volunteers to make it all happen.

In this harsh economic climate, 826LA recognizes that both students and teachers face an increase in overcrowded classrooms and a decrease in one-on-one learning opportunities. We believe that the best way to solve these existing problems in Los Angeles area schools and communities is by bringing our dedicated volunteer force into classrooms and into our writing labs to lend a hand. With the support of over 1,200 trained volunteers, we are able to offer our tutoring services to students at our centers and at schools throughout Los Angeles. Our volunteers include published authors, screenwriters, artists, and teachers—all of whom are eager to tutor, lead workshops, or help our staff and the teachers we support develop curriculum ideas. Since many of our volunteers are literary professionals and artists, our students gain the opportunity to take part in real-world writing experiences that might otherwise be unavailable to them.

OUR HISTORY

826LA is modeled after 826 Valencia, the address and name of a non-profit writing lab and tutoring center located in San Francisco's Mission District. Founded by writer Dave Eggers, educator Nínive Calegari, and a group of energetic and passionate volunteers, 826 Valencia opened its doors in April of 2002 to students eager to write and teachers looking for support. Other cities have now replicated 826 Valencia's success in Chicago, Illinois; Brooklyn, New York; Ann Arbor, Michigan; Seattle, Washington; Boston, Massachusetts; and Los Angeles, California. In March of 2005, 826LA opened its doors in the historic SPARC building, a decommissioned police station in Venice that houses arts and writing organizations. In January of 2008, due to repeated requests for our services on the east side of town, we opened a second center in Echo Park, a mixed-income, multiracial community composed of immigrant families and young artists and professionals.

CURRENT PROGRAMS

Our instruction is based on the proven pedagogy of project-based learning, rooted in the conviction that teaching is most effective (and most fun) when it is centered around the execution of a project, whether that be a chapbook full of poems and stories, a CD full of just-written songs, or a final performance of a stand-up comedy routine. As one teacher asserts, "this kind of tangible result is very effective in encouraging students to write and to develop confidence in their ability to do so." We take great pride in the work created at 826LA, and our students do, too. We offer these FREE programs:

- After-School Tutoring: Four days a week, 826LA is packed with neighborhood students who come in after school for free one-on-one tutoring in all subject areas. Silent reading and read-aloud time is a standard part of every student's experience in this program. Our library contains books ranging from fiction to zoology, thus ensuring that each student will find a publication that suits his or her interests.
- Field Trips: Up to four times a week, we welcome into our writing labs an entire public school classroom for a morning of high-energy learning. In our most popular field trip, "Storytelling & Bookmaking," students write, illustrate, and bind their own books within a two-hour period.
- Workshops: We offer free workshops designed to foster creativity and strengthen writing skills in a wide variety of areas, from the playful to the practical. All workshops are projectbased and taught by experienced, accomplished professionals. This year, 826LA hosted 124 workshop sessions. We maintained a small student to volunteer ratio with an average of 11 students to 6 volunteers per workshop.
- In-School Programs: We dispatch teams of volunteers into local high-need public schools to support teachers and provide one-on-one assistance to students on writing projects. Students and volunteers work together to generate ideas, revise essays or create elaborate story lines and characters. Their collective effort truly pays off: 94% of students participating in our in-school programs say that the 826 tutors helped them improve their writing assignments.
- Young Authors' Book Project: 826's Young Authors' Book Project take students through the entire process of book production and publication. Students learn to revise, writing up to ten drafts of an essay or story under the guidance of a professional editor, and make decisions about the final publication. This year, 826LA worked closely with the students of Garfield High School in East Los Angeles to complete Sheep Can't Fly, an anthology of essays, poems and stories. It is 826LA's largest publication to date.
- English Language Learner Summer Camp: For five weeks during the summer, we offer an intensive camp where elementary and middle school students work one-on-one with volunteers to develop their reading, writing, and communication skills. Each week offers a different theme to keep students engaged and excited about learning. During this summer's Animal Week, students read and wrote stories about wildlife and participated in a nature observation walk in Griffith Park.

Other Supplemental Information

Part IV:

Relationship with 826 National: 826LA is modeled after 826 Valencia, a tax-exempt writing lab and tutoring center located in San Francisco's Mission District. Effective as of March 1, 2005, the date on which 826LA commenced operations, 826LA entered into the 826 National Chapter Affiliation Agreement. 826 National provides certain supporting services to 826 Valencia, 826LA and the other "826" entities located throughout the country. Among other items, the Affiliation Agreement provides 826LA with a license to use the educational programs and other intellectual property of 826 National. Mr. Eggers and Ms. Calegari are members of the Board of Directors of each of 826 National and 826LA. During FY 2009, 826LA paid 826 National $15,137 as consideration for corporate support services provided by 826 National to 826LA.

In order to facilitate cash flow operations during 826LA's start up phase, 826 LA received working capital advances from 826 National, an affiliated entity, in the amount of $62,000 during 2005. The balance owing as of June 30, 2009 is $52,000. The loan bears no interest and is due and payable at the discretion of 826 National. The loan will be paid off in full by 826LA during FY 2010.

Part IV, Section B

- Conflict of Interest Standards: 826LA has adopted a conflicts of interest policy to identify any actual or potential conflicts of interest arising from transactions by and between 826LA and any board member, officer or employer. To the best of its knowledge, 826LA is not a party to any such related party transactions.
- Form 990: The Form 990 is prepared under the direction of 826LA's Executive Director and its Treasurer. The Form 990 is also reviewed by members of 826LA's executive committee and distributed to Board members prior to its submission.
- Compensation: In order to attract and retain the highly educated and creative work force necessary to implement 826LA's programs, 826LA strives to provide competitive salaries. During FY 09, 826LA provided general increases for staff members that the Board determined were consistent with increases in the cost of living and/or based on change in scope of the employees duties. At the recommendation of the Executive Director, however, 826LA did not make any changes during fiscal year 2009 to the compensation provided to its highest paid employee, the Executive Director, in order enhance its ability to provide funding for critical programs, 826LA believes that compensation provided to all employees is consistent with fair market value, as determined based on experience of management and the members of the Board of Directors and substantiated as appropriate pursuant to compensation surveys of comparable nonprofit organizations.

Part IV, Section C: Public Disclosures: 826LA's organizational documents are available for review upon request. The documents include the bylaws, the articles of incorporation, Form 990s and the application for exemption (Form 1023).

Outreach Theme Center: During 2008, 826LA expanded the tutoring center in Echo Park to include a new street-front design and theme center that is intended to promote awareness regarding the free education programs that 826LA provides to students. The street front and entry room to the Echo Park tutoring facility is designed as a time travel center that inspires student creativity by offering a novel gateway to history and the future.

The time travel center plays a major role in attracting students and volunteers to the tutoring center. The center also serves as a starting point for stretching the possibilities of the imaginations of the students. The center is filled with unusual products from different periods of time, entertaining signage, and educational materials. The center functions as an interactive museum that includes surveillance videos of footage from the store during the Victorian era, a refrigerator that preserves dinosaur eggs, and a Pastport room where people can have their photos and documents prepared before they embark on a trip to a different era. The first thing students do before coming in for a field trip is have their picture taken in period costume before entering our writing lab. The center even has a refrigerator that holds "Specialties" which are the books student create at 826LA. The back of our "Specialties" refrigerator is literally a window that provides a view of the writing lab located behind the center.

In October, 2007, the Los Angeles Times described the successful outreach programs conducted through the creativity centers and highlighted the launch of 826LA's time travel center during FY 2008:

"Typically, 826 centers include retail storefronts -- initially a zoning requirement for the San Francisco space -- which have become money-generating flights of fancy for the nonprofits. In San Francisco, students enter though a pirate supply store; in Brooklyn, a superhero store. Seattle offers space travel supply. Only 826LA, in Venice, doesn't have one; although it's near a school, it's not the kind of place a kid might stumble across.

But that's changing: Later this year, L.A. will become the first city to have two 826 centers when an additional branch opens at 1714 Sunset Blvd. Down the block from Payless Shoes, this tutoring center will be fronted by the Echo Park Time Travel Mart. It's exactly the kind of place a kid might walk into to finger a dinosaur egg, then wind up in a poetry workshop." Los Angeles Times, October 24, 2007, Eggers' work in words rewarded; Bestselling author and founder of nationwide literacy centers receives the Heinz Award, Carolyn Kellogg
