Mission

Little Kids Rock transforms children's lives by restoring and revitalizing music education in disadvantaged public schools across the United States.

Method

Little Kids Rock provides free training to public school teachers and donates all of the modern instruments (guitars, basses, drums, keyboards), resources and curricula necessary to run a rockin' music program in their schools. The program engages students early by teaching them to play the popular music that they love, to improvise, and to write their own songs.

History

Founder David Wish left his job as a public school teacher in the San Francisco Bay Area and began giving free guitar and songwriting lessons to other teachers, sharing his vision for an engaging music education method. Ten years later, Little Kids Rock has become the leading nonprofit provider of free instruments and lessons to U.S. public schools, having donated millions of dollars-worth of

During School:

Little Kids Rock helps schools with music teachers revitalize their existing programs by bringing in a new, contemporary music methodology. We are building the first, national, pop-oriented music program in U.S. public schools.

After School:

For schools without music faculty, Little Kids Rock works with other qualified teachers to offer after-school Little Kids Rock classes. This gives students access to the same Little Kids Rock methodology and helps keep children in school during the troublesome hours between 3 and 5 PM.

Little Kids Rock currently serves over 110,000 students enrolled in 955 schools nationwide.
