Part I Additional Supplemental Information

We aim to increase our visibility, brand reliability, audience engagement, and community support and invested in communications and marketing contractors (Provok, and Media Cause) with the goals of clearly articulating our mission, program goals and to provide transparency around how we address those goals. These investments supported significant growth in both public support and engagement: CatchLight's in-person program engagement jumped from approximately 500 people in 2017 to 97,000 in 2018. 99.5% of that audience attended CatchLight events for free.

Over the last year and a half, CatchLight has also realized substantial growth in public support, more than tripling both the number of individual donors and the amount of their support. CatchLight's continuous and bona fide solicitation for funds program included: four donor cultivation events, two digital and direct mail campaigns, major donor cultivation, and launched a rigorous grant strategy. In 2018, CatchLight submitted letters of inquiry or grant applications to 27 different foundations and was awarded $143k in grants.

Facts and Circumstances Statement
Schedule A

Facts and Circumstances Narrative

Over the past five years, we have successfully maintained our target goal of ensuring that at least 10% of our support is from a diverse group of public supporters. The following is a description of the historical activities of CatchLight (the "Organization", or "CatchLight") and the relevant facts necessary to demonstrate CatchLight's satisfaction of the "facts and circumstances" test, and its qualification thereby as a publicly supported organization under Section 170(b)(1)(A)(vi) of the Internal Revenue Code (the "Code"). The description below is keyed to headings that match the requirements of the test as set out by the regulations governing Section 170 of the Code.

A. Attraction of Public Support

1. CatchLight's solicitation of public support

Since its inception, CatchLight has been dedicated to fulfilling its core mission of promoting social change through visual storytelling. Our activities and staffing levels have fluctuated over the past few years as we experimented with how to best fulfill this mission in the most sustainable manner possible. We have worked to attract support from individual donors in the local communities in which we operate and from among our global audience. Over this time, we have experimented with and engaged in various means of fundraising including individual solicitations, outreach to private foundations, and event sponsorship arrangements. We are currently building on these early successes, and are establishing a robust program for garnering public support with the intention of substantially increasing CatchLight's public involvement and further diversifying its funding sources.

Accordingly, in 2017, we began to devote more of our resources to expanding our fundraising efforts and support base. In the spring of 2017, CatchLight launched its first formal major donor program for supporters contributing $1,000 to $5,000. The Spring 2017 Appeal engaged many donors, a majority of whom had never contributed to CatchLight before. Eight new donors joined the inaugural CatchLight Visionaries giving circle. Additionally, by the end of 2017, the appeal realized five additional gifts exceeding $1,000. In the fall of 2017, CatchLight rallied the support of more than 200 local and international photographers, industry leaders, students, and community activists at a series of public events that resulted in 20 gifts, the vast majority of which were from donors and audiences new to the Organization. We found similar success through an end of the year appeal that realized 16 additional donors.

In September 2017, we hired a full time Director of Philanthropy, and the next month we hired a full-time Development and Operations Coordinator who spends approximately 50% of her time supporting fundraising outreach and development efforts. The team has implemented development policies and adopted nationally recognized "best practices" consistent with those described by the National Association of Fundraising Professionals.

In addition to these internal efforts, we have also hired external communications and marketing contractors (Brazer Communications, Provok, and Media Cause) to help us articulate our mission and improve our public visibility, audience engagement, and community support. We are hoping to build on our additional investment in fundraising talent and our specific goals for 2018 include:

?Increase subscription to our major donor program "CatchLight Visionaries" by demonstrating our value to the community

?Build an internal culture of philanthropy, so that all staff, the board of directors, and affiliates feel empowered to speak on behalf of CatchLight and introduce us to others

?Improve donor trust by increasing fiscal and organizational transparency through the use of programs and organizations like Guide Star and the Cultural Data Project

?Seek partner support to boost social media and general brand recognition.

?Identify long term organizational goals and shorter term funding plans so we can build strategies to fund them (for example, a 2019 Environmental Fellowship)

?Develop value and program aligned donor materials to clearly define goals, purpose, and progress toward those outcomes.

We are also seeking to expand our audience and supporters through selective alignment with programmatic partners that similarly serve the community such as Pro Arts Gallery, The Great Wall of Oakland, SF Camerawork, and UC Berkeley Graduate School of Journalism, among others. Plans are in place to work together with other non-profit media partners such as KQED, The Marshall Project, CALmatters, The Pulitzer Center, and others.

In 2018, we plan to grow our CatchLight Visionaries giving circle, with the goal of annually raising $50,000 from this group.. Two donor outreach events are already planned in conjunction with our art exhibitions - one in San Francisco in May and another in New York City in September. In addition, throughout the year, donors will now receive donor-centric communications and invitations to events that meet their interests. We have also planned a gala Spring Appeal consisting of an email and social media campaign and an End of Year appeal consisting of online and direct mail solicitation. Our in-person events for 2018 include a cocktail hour to celebrate the opening of the CatchLight exhibit at SF Camerawork, a dinner party to celebrate the opening of the CatchLight exhibit at Photoville in New York City, and a fall fundraising event comprising an entire day of photography related programming, 2.CatchLight's outreach to other public charities and governmental entities CatchLight's mission is to promote social change through visual storytelling. It is a mission that resonates with many other organizations with whom we partner, spanning education, arts, and social justice and advocacy. In 2018, our partners will include publicly supported non-profit organizations such as United Photo Industries, SF Camerawork, KQED, and Pro Arts Gallery. We are also hoping to partner with the McEvoy Foundation for the Arts, the David Brower Center and others. We are seeking partnerships to expand the reach of our programs, build public support, and procure funds and sponsorships from public foundations. This approach has been successful over the last few years, and we have received consistent support from several public foundations including the Silver Giving Foundation and the Coastal Community Foundation of SC.

We are currently expanding our grant program, seeking support from approximately 20 foundations with which we have not previously engaged. Our goal for this year is to secure a minimum of $50,000 in foundation and governmental entity support and establish more of these relationships for broader future support. We expect to continue to receive support from our existing relationships with foundations, corporations, and governmental entities to fund our programs and operations. A preliminary list of these anticipated supporters includes the following organizations:

Fleishhacker Foundation
Cal Humanities
East Bay Community Foundation
Wyncote Foundation
Wallace Global Fund
The San Francisco Foundation
Neda Nobari Foundation
Reva & David Logan Foundation
Walter & Elise Haas Fund (Sr.)
Fledgling Fund
Ford Foundation
Cummings Foundation
Skoll Foundation
Compton Foundation
Knight Foundation
Kresge Foundation
Stupski Foundation
Jonathan Logan Family Foundation
Baum Foundation

B. Multi-Factor Analysis

1. Percentage of Financial Support

CatchLight's public support fraction for the combined years 2013-2017 is 15.17%. Please see Part II of Schedule A above for the detailed calculation of our public support fraction. This amount includes in full $160,000 in contributions received from the Charles Schwab Charitable Fund, a donor advised fund and publicly supported organization, contributed to CatchLight at the request of Nancy Farese. Because the Charles Schwab Charitable Fund has attested to us that it qualifies as a publicly supported organization, we have treated these contributions as not subject to the 2% maximum in calculating the public support numerator. If the public support fraction were calculated subjecting these contributions to a 2% cap, our public support fraction would be 10.40% ($245,767/$2,362,690), and still meet the 10% minimum requirement.

2. Sources of Support

Since 2013, CatchLight has received support from a range of individuals and organizations representing various segments of the broader community. Foundation grants have come from the Farese Family Foundation, the Coastal Community Foundation of South Carolina, the Ward Family Foundation, the Marin Community Foundation, the Richards Foundation, Inc., the Silver Lining/Giving Foundation, PhotoWings, the Silicon Valley Community Foundation, and the North Ridge Foundation, among others. In addition, CatchLight has received substantial support from a donor advised fund, and support from a wide variety of individual donors who contributed amounts ranging in size for $9 to $5,000.

The trend over the past couple of years has been towards increased support from the broader public, with non-family donations growing by over 300% between 2016 and 2017. In 2017, CatchLight received more contributions from the community than ever before, and we are on track for an even better 2018. Our audience is expanding and has shown substantial interest in contributing to our programs - a recent audience survey found that 25% of respondents were likely to contribute to upcoming fundraising events. With our donor pipeline, our rapidly growing constituent base, and the infrastructure we have implemented for community outreach and donor engagement, we expect significant growth in our public support over the course of the year.

3. Representative Governing Body

CatchLight's board of directors is comprised of a diverse group of industry experts and successful business people, whose varied background ensures they represent the broad interests of the public. Many of the directors have substantial philanthropic experience, while others have a close connection to the visual arts, journalism and community education. The board and organization are also advised by the members of the Advisory Council who provide additional philanthropic, managerial, and industry expertise.

4.Public Participation in Programs

CatchLight is a globally facing, public serving non-profit whose primary audience is concentrated in the Bay Area, but reaches a worldwide audience. Our digital communications reach more than 5,000 readers across the globe and CatchLight e-newsletters are opened in more than 45 countries. Our social media posts on Facebook are followed by nearly 38,000 people and 20,500 on Instagram. We connected with more than 200 individuals for in-person events last year. Our audience spans five continents, a cross-section of ages 18-65+ and represents a multitude of ethnicities. Our 2018 applications for the CatchLight Fellowship represented 52 different countries, and the majority of applicants were female. A recent audience survey found that 47.1% of respondents believe that CatchLight's work has been either "highly effective" or "effective" in raising awareness about issues that matter. CatchLight's public programs span both West and East Coasts, with digital and in-person events. These programs are designed to connect visual storytellers with one another for professional growth, to connect photographers with the general public to increase understanding and empathy for others, and to increase visual media literacy. Annually, the CatchLight Fellowship recognizes three professional photographers who are leaders in visual storytelling and have demonstrated excellence in using photography to bring awareness to challenging social issues. In order to provide this Fellowship, we have partnered with The Marshall Project, the Pulitzer Center on Crisis Reporting, and Reveal from the Center for Investigative Reporting. CatchLight will also host a screening of the short documentary Tender Souls, which challenges ideas of what it means to be a San Franciscan, in partnership with City of Hope and Covo. CatchLight is also involved on an ongoing basis with Everyday Bay Area (EDBA), a project in collaboration with The Everyday Projects (in partnership with KQED Public Media) and PhotoWings. EDBA focuses on the power of visual storytelling to help San Francisco Bay Area residents see and understand one another across identities, ages, demographics, and geographies. Other CatchLight events include involvement with the SF Camerawork Storyteller lecture series, organization of a panel about the ethics of street photography, and an exhibit at Photoville NYC.

CatchLight also conducts programs for experts, including professional photographers and other lens-based artists, who both attend and deliver content. CatchLight seeks to expand the opportunities for traditionally underrepresented storytellers in the media. The artists that CatchLight helps to support and promote are technically skilled, but come from diverse backgrounds. In 2017, the inaugural call for our Fellowship elicited responses from 330 artists, from all over the world. Our 2018 submission was recently opened and has already received more than 110 applications, from locations including Lagos, San Francisco, London, Dar es Salaam, and New York. Our San Francisco-based cohort of 20 photographers in the Everyday Bay Area program are racially, ethnically, gender, and age diverse, sharing unique visual stories that provide insight to our culturally diverse community. Our program partners, panel speakers, and moderators are similarly diverse, as well as skillful in the field of photo, media, and social change.
